CASTLE SQUARE OPERA CO.

Henry W. Savage announces that the Castle Square opera season will begin at the Century the latter part of December. The organization will remain seven weeks. "Pierodora" and "Iodo" will be heard before the arrival of the Savage forces, making an opera season of nine weeks. The Castle Square company will present two operas a week, grand and comic. Adelaide Norwood, Josephine Ludwig, Rosnyson Quislan, Dolacetta and Boyle will appear of each performance.

VICTOR MAUREL has retired from the operatic stage, and will devote himself to teaching in Paris, where Jean Lassalle has also opened a studio. Maurel postponed as long as possi-

Me his retirement from the stage, and has in reality had little capacity for opera during the past few seasons. His attempt to appear in drama was not successful, and he has now decided to teach. As has been well said, if he could impart the secret of his incomparable operatic acting to others, he would be a public benefactor.

SOUTHWELL OPERA CO.

The Southwell Opera Co., under the splendid guidance of Charles Southwell, is presenting a series of operas at the St. Louis Exposition in a manner that is utterly captivating lovers of popular operas. All students of music should avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the operas presented by this able company at popular prices.

THE JESSE FRENCH PIANO & ORGAN COMPANY, MANUFACTURERS OF THE "THREE GRACES" STARR, JESSE FRENCH AND RICHMOND PIANOS.

The STARR Piano is a recognized standard of artistic merit, and received the highest award at the World's Fair in '93, also at the Tennessee International Exposition in '98.

The JESSE FRENCH is a popular rival of all claimants for the second position, because of its acknowledged durability, elegant tone and action, while the RICHMOND is certainly the best commercial Piano in America, moderate in price and thoroughly reliable. We make nothing but such goods as we can sell on honor and fully guaranteed, and parties dealing direct with us get factory prices and save all middlemen's profits. M AURICE GRAU GRAND OPERA CO.

What will undoubtedly be the greatest musical event of the season will be the appearance of the Maurice Grau Opera Company in Music Hall on the evenings of Dec. 11, 12 and 13, with matinee on afternoon of the 12th. Extensive preparations have been made for this grand opera festival, and St. Louis music lovers will undoubtedly take advantage of the treat that is offered them. Four operas will be sung: "Roméo and Juliet," "Tanhauser," "Faust," and "Aida," in the order named. A new stage is being constructed in Music Hall, which will permit of the same elaborate productions of the operas as is given at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, and which form such an important part of the musical season in the metropolis.

Of course, the majority of St. Louisans have heard Seshrich, Schumann-Heink, Hanes, and many others of the Grau company, but the appearance of two new faces, who are well in the front rank of the grand opera profession, will be interesting. They are Sybil Sanderson and Adress Dippel. The latter is the Wagnerian tenor, whose wonderful genius has received the homage of the greatest monarchs and potentates of the earth. A magnificent actor and thoroughly devoted to his art, he is quite unimpeded by flattery, and is a man of very simple tastes. He delights in outdoor exercise and is passionately fond of pedestrian tours. In this latter respect an interesting anecdote is related of him. A few years ago, while he was enjoying one of his favorite excursions in Scotland, he arrived one Sunday at a little hamlet some twenty miles from Balmoral. While casting about for a tavern in which to rest, the strains of harmony—or rather discord—fell upon his ears, and he beheld at a short distance an old-fashioned kirk. He lost no time in entering the eccentric-looking edifice, where he found, in addition to the minister, a small congregation of peasant Scotch. At a harmonium a portly middle-aged lady, whose countenance showed signs of former beauty, presided. Beside her sat a quaint little red-faced lady, palpably an octogenarian. They were evidently mother and daughter, and their garb denoted them to be widows. The rustic choir was simply appalling in its efforts, but the lady at the harmonium manifested not the slightest trace of impatience, while her mother beat time with her finger and gravely nodded ladies smiled, and after the slightest possible hesitation the older one accepted his proffered hand, saying graciously: "You have a glorious gift in your voice. May you also devote it to such a good cause."

After an interchange of civilities and an enquiry from the ladies as to his name, he parted with them. As he left the kirk he noticed in waiting an antiquated pony chaise in charge of a sleepy Highland servant. "The correlative of my new acquaintance," he thought, "evidently the widow and daughter of some petty Scotch laird, and the ladies homelike in this rustic parish." The same day he left that part of the country and the incident, which had made but little impression upon his mind, soon faded from it.

The following season when all London was raving about his splendid success in Wagnerian operas with the Maurice Grau Opera Company at Covent Garden Theater, there came a royal command for the company to sing at Windsor Castle. At the conclusion of the opera the Lord Chamberlain intimated him that he was to be honored by a presentation to the Queen of England. He was accordingly ushered into the Royal Presence, and as he leapt to kiss her outstretched hand she graciously addressed him in these words: "Sir, you sang magnificently. I have only heard your singing of this evening once excelled and that was by yourself on the Sunday afternoon when you sang my favorite hymn in the little kirk." The singer looked up astonished and beheld in the greatest sovereign of the earth, the quaint little old lady of his Scottish adventure, while behind her throne stood her daughter, the good tempered accompanist, who was none other than the widowed Princess Beatrice of Battenberg.

approbation. At last, the concluding hymn, which happened to be "Nearer, my God, to Thee" commenced, and Dippel unconsciously joined in it. His magnificent voice rang through the little kirk and had an awe-inspiring effect upon the congregation, who ceased their part in the melody, leaving it entirely to him. At its conclusion, the younger lady arose and approaching his side: "I thank you very gratefully. My mother would also like to add her acknowledgments to mine. Will you come and speak to her?" The singer approached the little old lady with outstretched hand, exclaiming frankly: "I am very glad to meet you, madame." Both the Princess Knecht will arrive in this country about the middle of December, in place of January, as announced by his manager, Henry Wolfsohn. The demand for the services of Kreider has been such that Mr. Wolfsohn called him to cancel his early December dates in Europe and sail for this country in time to begin his season in Baltimore Dec. 10th, when he will appear before the Peabody Institute. Kreider has been engaged by all of the large orchestral societies. He will play in seven concerts with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, with the Chicago, Pittsburg, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and the New York Philharmonic Orchestras.

THE news that W. S. Gilbert, the famous librettist, is dying at his home near London, will bring regret to an array of admirers of the old Sullivan-Gilbert operas in all parts of the world. The last days of the man who made the world so merry are in sad contrast to his life. Sir Arthur Sullivan's death, followed so closely by the death of the third of the trio—D'Oyly Carte—greatly depressed him, and since then he has written absolutely nothing. For more than a year Mr. Gilbert has been an invalid, and Nancy McIntosh is his devoted nurse.

A Louisville paper requested Melba to give a list of her favorite songs. She complied, and

Many a woman is so exquisitely organized that the strains of music cause her to forget to eat or drink until reminded of the necessity by physical exhaustion, but the Nineteenth Century Woman never forgets to be daintily clothed, and she knows too that the place of all others to buy exactly what she wants at just the price she can afford to pay, is the list she furnished shows the prima donna is nothing if not eclectic in her musical tastes. She names six compositions: Verdi's "Ah! fors e lei," Donizetti's "Adeus 'gl Incerri," Tosti's "Good-by," Mozart's "L'Anero," Elizabeth's Prayer from Wagner's "Tannhauser," and Beethoven's Nymphs of Sylvians."

CINCINNATI music patrons are trying to establish a guarantee of $10,000 a year for their Symphony Orchestras. The Pittsburgh Orchestra is said to cost $70,000, and the Chicago Orchestra $100,000 a year. Seventy cities in Pittsburgh contribute $500 a year each.

CROWN PIANO

In the culmination of more than a century's effort to make the piano an instrument of many and varied tones. Ever since the introduction of the piano, the attainment of this end has been regarded as the highest possible achievement in the development of the piano. From the CLAVICHORD to the many-toned "CROWN" PIANO is a long step, embracing centuries of continuous and painstaking effort which slowly but surely wrought out the development of the piano class of musical instruments, until there was evolved the piano of many tones—the "CROWN."

Some of its Distinctive Qualities are: Perfection and variety of tone, a perfect scale, lightness and responsiveness of touch, repeating capabilities of action, a perfect sensitive shifter, (used in so other piano), greatly enlarged capacity, almost unlimited capability for the faithful rendition of music some of which has heretofore been outside of the possibilities of the piano, elegant and unique case designs, and the greatest durability.

First system of musical notation, consisting of a treble and bass staff. The music features a melodic line in the treble and a supporting bass line. The key signature has two flats, and the time signature is 3/4. The system concludes with a fermata over the final notes.

Second system of musical notation, continuing the piece. It maintains the same melodic and harmonic structure as the first system, ending with a fermata.

Third system of musical notation. The treble staff begins with a rit. (ritardando) marking. The system concludes with a legiero (lighter) marking above the final notes.

Fourth system of musical notation, featuring a long melodic phrase in the treble staff that spans across the system. The bass staff provides a steady accompaniment.

Fifth system of musical notation, continuing the melodic development in the treble staff. The piece shows signs of approaching its end with a final fermata.

Sixth system of musical notation, the final system on the page. It concludes the piece with a final melodic flourish in the treble and a sustained bass line.

First system of musical notation, featuring a treble and bass staff. The treble staff contains a melodic line with a long slur over the first four measures. The bass staff provides a harmonic accompaniment with chords and moving lines. The key signature has two flats, and the time signature is 4/4.

Second system of musical notation, continuing the piece. The treble staff has a melodic line with a slur. The bass staff continues the accompaniment. The notation includes various note values and rests.

Third system of musical notation. The treble staff features a melodic line with a slur. The bass staff continues the accompaniment. A first ending bracket is visible in the treble staff towards the end of the system.

Fourth system of musical notation. The treble staff has a melodic line with a slur. The bass staff continues the accompaniment. The notation includes various note values and rests.

Fifth system of musical notation. The treble staff has a melodic line with a slur. The bass staff continues the accompaniment. The notation includes various note values and rests.

Sixth system of musical notation. The treble staff has a melodic line with a slur. The bass staff continues the accompaniment. The notation includes various note values and rests. The piece concludes with a double bar line and a final chord.

Second system of musical notation, continuing the piece. It features a treble and bass staff with similar notation to the first system. The tempo marking Allegro is present. The system ends with a double bar line and a repeat sign.

Third system of musical notation, continuing the piece. It features a treble and bass staff with similar notation to the first system. The system ends with a double bar line and a repeat sign.

Fourth system of musical notation, continuing the piece. It features a treble and bass staff with similar notation to the first system. The system ends with a double bar line and a repeat sign.

Fifth system of musical notation, continuing the piece. It features a treble and bass staff with similar notation to the first system. The tempo marking allegro is present. The system ends with a double bar line and a repeat sign.

First system of a musical score. It features a grand staff with a treble clef on the upper staff and a bass clef on the lower staff. The key signature has three flats (B-flat, E-flat, A-flat), and the time signature is 3/4. The music consists of a melodic line in the treble and a harmonic accompaniment in the bass. A first ending bracket is present at the end of the system, with a '7' above it. The system concludes with a double bar line.

Second system of the musical score. It continues the grand staff notation. The treble staff has a first ending bracket with a '7' above it. The bass staff continues with its accompaniment. The system ends with a double bar line.

Third system of the musical score. The treble staff features a melodic line with a fermata over the final note. The bass staff provides a steady accompaniment. The system ends with a double bar line.

Fourth system of the musical score. It includes a first ending bracket with two options, labeled '1.' and '2.'. The treble staff has a melodic line with various ornaments and slurs. The bass staff continues with its accompaniment. The system ends with a double bar line.

The first system of music consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef and the lower staff is in bass clef. Both staves are in a key signature of three flats (B-flat, E-flat, A-flat) and a 3/4 time signature. The music features a melodic line in the upper staff and a harmonic accompaniment in the lower staff. The first measure has a piano (p) dynamic marking. The system concludes with a double bar line and a repeat sign.

The second system of music continues from the first system, spanning measures 5 to 8. It maintains the same key signature and time signature. The melodic line in the upper staff continues with various rhythmic patterns, while the lower staff provides a steady accompaniment. The system ends with a double bar line and a repeat sign.

The third system of music covers measures 9 to 12. The upper staff continues its melodic development, and the lower staff's accompaniment becomes more active. The system concludes with a double bar line and a repeat sign.

First system of a musical score. It consists of a treble clef staff and a bass clef staff. The treble staff begins with a melodic line, followed by a series of chords and a more active line. The bass staff provides a harmonic accompaniment with chords and some melodic fragments. A dynamic marking of rit. is present at the beginning, and rapido. appears later in the system. A fermata is placed over the final measure of the treble staff.

Second system of the musical score, continuing the composition with similar melodic and harmonic textures in both staves.

Third system of the musical score, showing further development of the musical ideas.

Fourth system of the musical score, featuring more complex rhythmic patterns in the bass line.

Fifth system of the musical score, maintaining the established musical style.

Sixth system of the musical score, concluding with a ff dynamic marking and a final cadence.

The second system of the musical score features a vocal line and piano accompaniment. The vocal line begins with a whole rest, followed by a half note G4, a quarter note A4, and a quarter note B4. The piano accompaniment continues with chords and melodic lines, including a half note G4 in the right hand and a half note G3 in the left hand. The lyrics "Here is the end of prose, Now for the joy" are written below the vocal line.

Here is the end of prose, Now for the joy

The third system of the musical score continues the vocal line and piano accompaniment. The vocal line starts with a whole rest, followed by a half note G4, a quarter note A4, and a quarter note B4. The piano accompaniment continues with chords and melodic lines. The lyrics "of rhyme! Here is the crim - son rose And the sun - mer's prime!" are written below the vocal line.

Vivo. $\text{♩} = 116$.

The musical score is arranged in four systems, each with a piano (p) part on the left and a violin (v) part on the right. The key signature is three flats (B-flat, E-flat, A-flat) and the time signature is 2/4. The tempo is marked 'Vivo' with a quarter note equal to 116 beats per minute. The score includes various musical notations such as slurs, accents, and dynamic markings like f (forte) and p (piano). The piano part features a steady bass line with chords, while the violin part has a more melodic and technically demanding line with many sixteenth and thirty-second notes. The piece concludes with a double bar line and repeat dots.

STARS OF THE SEASON.

The booking of artists under the management of Mr. Henry Wolfsohn, the well known New York Concert Agent, for this Musical Season, have been the best of any in recent years. His list contains many of the most prominent names which appear on the programs of the principal cities. His star this season is Josef Hofmann, who undertakes his first extensive tour in America. Hofmann's tour is now booked solidly up to February 1st, and from that time, until April, his route is all arranged.

Pritz Kreidler, the greatest violinist heard in this country since Yooye's first season here, will also take a prominent place before the public. He is booked for seven concerts with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and, in addition, the New York Philharmonic, the Chicago Orchestra, the St. Louis Choral Symphony Society, and the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Permanent Orchestras have also engaged him as soloist. He will give a number of recitals in the different cities, and those already arranged for him include Detroit, Buffalo, five in Boston, three in Chicago, and three in New York. Last season Kreidler gave seven recitals in Boston, and at six of those he played to audiences that crowded the hall to its fullest capacity.

Other prominent artists, whose services Mr. Wolfsohn controls and will be heard in the principal concerts in the East and middle West, are: Shanna Cannings, who recently replaced Mme. Eames at the Worcester Festival, and sang with success in both the Beattles and the Verdi Requiem; Mrs. Hissen De Moss, who is beginning her second New York season, with the brightest of prospects, as she is already engaged for many of the principal concerts, including appearances with the Pittsburgh Orchestra; Miss Clara Poole-King, who has just made a successful reappearance at the Worcester Festival; Miss Gertrude May Stein, who is to-day the foremost American contralto singer by right of her artistic singing and continued triumphs, the last of which is the recent Worcester Festival, where she sang so successfully the part of "Judith" in Chadwick's new oratorio of that name. Miss Stein's season is looked for recitals, oratorio performances, as well as in orchestral concerts. She is to be heard with the Thomas Orchestra in Chicago.

Evan Williams and Elison Van Hoose are to-day the two most popular tenors in America, and both made distinct success last week at the Worcester Festival.

Isabelle Siebling is another of Mr. Wolfsohn's "finds" that promises much in the future. She enjoyed unusual success at the Worcester Festival.

Paul Fisher, the well-known basso, is to enter the concert field again, and will also give much of his time to preparing gifted singers for German opera and lieder singing.

"Bach's death has been ascribed to an operation clumsily performed by an English oculist, probably John Taylor, then resident at Leipzig. Bach's eyesight was partially restored on July 18, but the pain and shock induced high fever and paralysis, and ten days later he expired. A touching picture is afforded of the death-bed scene; when the aged composer was dictating to his son-in-law a revised version of an old organ chorale, which Bach in his last moments turned into a hymn, to the noble words of Babel von Hordensberg's "Before Thy Throes I now appear" (for "With this I come", as another version has it). After the funeral Bach's memory seems to have been treated with scant ceremony. Within a week of his obsequies the Leipzig Town Council passed a resolution that "The school needed a Cantor, and not a Capellmeister. Herr Bach had been a great musician, but not a schoolmaster." Bach's sons had partitioned their father's music (the most valuable portion of his estate) before his scanty property was divided, and ten years later the composer's widow was left to die as an "abandoned", and was buried by charity."

A NEW work of Massenet's will be given this winter at Monte Carlo. It is called "The Juggler of Notre Dame," upon a poem of M. Lema.

A Gem for the Parlor or Concert!

THE MISERERE.

From "IL TROVATORE."

— Piano Solo by Charles Kunkel. —

RETAIL PRICE - $1.50

This beautiful piece embodies the great Miserere Scene opening the fourth act of Verdi's popular opera, "Il Trovatore."

The Miserere Scene is one of the greatest inspirations ever conceived by genius, and if Verdi had written only this one scene, it would suffice to send his name down to posterity.

In the paraphrase of this scene, the author has endeavored to vividly portray the true color of the original score.

Charles Kunkel never wrote a more effective piece. Both teacher and pupil will be delighted with this superb number.

It has a magnificent title page and the words of the music are given separately in the preface.

Nothing has been left undone that will make this beautiful work a revelation to piano players.

SCALES.

All the Major, Harmonic and Melodic Minor and Chromatic Scales, Chords, Five-Finger Exercises and Octave Studies, - Carl Sidus, op. 502 (R. L.)
